Terms of Direct debit service agreement

This agreement sets out the terms on which we accept and act under a direct debit request you give us to debit amounts in connection with the customer arrangement from a specified account of yours under the direct debit system.

We'll only draw money out of your account in accordance with the terms of your direct debit request.

Changes we can make

We can:

- change our direct debit procedures
- change the terms of your direct debit request
- cancel your direct debit request.
- When we make changes, we'll always engage with you in a fair, reasonable and ethical manner. We'll give you 30 days' notice in writing of changes. However, we don't have to give you notice (or we can give you shorter notice) if we reasonably consider if it's reasonable for us to manage a material and immediate risk.

You may cancel your direct debit request without penalty if we make any changes to our direct debit procedures or the terms of your direct debit request, or if we cancel your direct debit request.

Changes you can make

By contacting us and quoting your account number, you can ask us to:

- change the terms of your direct debit request
- defer a payment to be made under your direct debit request
- stop a payment under your direct debit request
- cancel your direct debit request, and change your payment method — see  below.

We can take up to 7 days to process your request. Although we'll act promptly, if you ask us to do something listed above within 48 hours of a payment due date, we may not be able to process your request before the next payment date.

What you should consider if you cancel your direct debit request

Cancelling your direct debit request won't change how often you have to make payments, but it may change the amount payable to us. Please talk to us before you complete a cancellation request.

If the customer arrangement isn't with you, you should tell the customer before you cancel your direct debit request so they can make other payment arrangements.

If you want to dispute any debited amount

You can dispute any amount we draw under your direct debit request by contacting us, quoting your account number and providing details of your dispute.

Our customer service officer will try to resolve your problem. If we can't resolve it, your dispute will be raised with the relevant department which will contact you within 14 days. We'll try to resolve your dispute and refund the disputed amount (where applicable) within 1 month of receiving your enquiry. You can also complain directly to the financial institution at which your account is held.

What happens if a direct debit payment to us is due on a non-business day?

If the day on which you have to make any payments to us isn't a business day we may draw on your account under your direct debit request on the preceding business day.

If a direct debit request is rejected

If your financial institution rejects any of our attempts to draw an amount in accordance with the terms of your direct debit request, we'll advise you in writing the first time this happens and you'll need to make alternative arrangements to make the rejected payment.

If we incur any fees from your financial institution as a result of the rejected payment, we'll pass these onto you.

We may need to disclose information

If you dispute any amount we draw under your direct debit request then we may need to disclose information relating to your direct debit request and any amount we draw under it to the financial institution at which your account is held or the financial institution which sponsors our use of the direct debit system (or both of them).

What you should consider about making a direct debit request

- Not all accounts held with a financial institution are available to be drawn on under the direct debit system.
- Before you complete your direct debit request, it's best to check your specified account details against a recent statement from your financial institution to ensure the details on your direct debit request are completed correctly.
- It's your responsibility to ensure there are sufficient cleared funds available in your account to enable us to be paid on each due date in accordance with the terms of your direct debit request.
- Please direct all enquiries and requests relating to your direct debit request to us or your financial institution.
