Data as at 8:00am. Change from previous trading day (excluding the SFE which is the change during the night session). Source: Bloomberg.

Main Themes: Investors took a breather overnight after a number of equity markets hit record highs last week. Markets are waiting for the release of US earnings later this week.

Share Markets: Equity markets pared gains after several markets reached new highs last week.

The Dow slipped 0.2%. In Europe, the Dax ticked down 0.1%. The ASX 200 declined 0.3% although futures point to a solid open.

Interest Rates: US bond yields were largely unchanged amid an influx of issuance. The US 10-year Treasury yield finished at 1.67%.

The Australian 10-year government yield ticked up 2 basis points to 1.77%.

Foreign Exchange: The Australian dollar against the US dollar continued to trade in the narrow range we have seen over recent weeks. It finished slightly lower at 0.7624. The US dollar index was unchanged.

Commodities: Copper fell on concerns that China's efforts to stem commodities inflation will hurt demand. Oil was flat and gold dropped.

COVID-19: England reopened shops, beauticians and barbers today. Pubs have also opened their doors, although patrons will have to brave the cold and sit in beer gardens.

Australia: There was no major economic data published in Australia yesterday.

China: Aggregate financing, which is the broadest measure of credit, grew 3.3 trillion yuan in March. This compares to 1.7 trillion yuan in February and 5.2 trillion yuan in the same month last year. The pickup was underpinned by a stronger-than-expected extension of loans by banks, at 2.7 trillion yuan. This is despite the fact that the People's Bank of China has reportedly asked banks to curtail loan growth.

Eurozone: Retail sales in February were stronger than expected, increasing 3.0% after declining 5.9% in the previous month, even though restrictions tightened in parts of the continent.

United States: US Federal Reserve member Bullard indicated it was too early to begin talking about tapering, although this would start once 75% to 80% of the population is vaccinated. He also noted it would be difficult to interpret upcoming CPI data due to base effects and supply chain bottlenecks, with better comparisons to be made in the second half of the year.

The US federal budget deficit last month was US$659.6 billion, the third largest on record and the biggest since last June. This comes amid a fresh wave of stimulus payments hitting the bank accounts of Americans. Payments of up to $1400 per person were authorised under the $1.9 trillion package passed last month.
